

WILL OPEN UP TO-DAY

Henrico Investigation Begins at Noon.

THE CHARGES MADE

Committee Will Meet and Look Into Them—Constables Resign—More
Statements of Expenses
Filed.

At a meeting to be held at noon to-day at the courthouse, the Henrico Democratic Committee will enter upon an investigation incident to certain charges more or less sensational in their character, brought in three instances against successful candidates in the recently held primary.

Not a little interest is being taken in the matter, and the meeting will, in all likelihood, be closely watched for possible important developments. Whether or not there will be a public sitting cannot at this time be said. The chairman of the body said last evening that anybody who has no reason to believe that anybody will be excluded. Certainly the newspapermen, he said, would be given every opportunity to report the proceedings.

THE CHARGES.
The charges are mainly connected with alleged violations of the Barksdale law, two successful office-holders have been charged with securing the nomination at the expense of a violation of this law. In another instance a candidate alleges that a number of ballots were thrown out and that he suffered by this fact; this same opponent with violation charged by the Barksdale law. In the final instance there is to be considered by the committee a request for a recount of the entire vote cast for one of the offices.

Dedicated the most interesting of the cases is the Wendenburg-Throckmorton contest. Mr. Wendenburg, the successful candidate, is charged by his opponent with having flagrantly violated the provisions of the law. Mr. Throckmorton has filed his allegations with the committee and they are decidedly sensational in part. In the main they charge that Mr. Wendenburg practically bought the nomination with whiskey. An instance of this alleged violation of the statute is specified by the complainant. On his part Mr. Wendenburg denies the charges in toto, and laughs at them. He says they are ridiculous. He declares that Mr. Throckmorton has insulted the people of Henrico when he charges that they can be bought with whiskey.

Another of the contests is over the office of treasurer. Mr. Hechler, who was elected, is charged with violation of the Barksdale law. Mr. Todd, another of the candidates, asks for a recount of the entire vote. The vote which elected Mr. Brauer did not exceed Mr. Todd's by a hundred, and Mr. Todd's claim is eminently possible that he might be elected by a small margin.

The third and last contest is over one of the magisterial offices. Mr. Justice T. Lewis, though why on him cannot be said. The complainant is Mr. Wyatt, who alleges that ballots were thrown out which might have affected his nomination. Mr. Wyatt is given all the votes he claims were thrown out he still would not be elected. He further turns on his opponent by declaring that he has violated the Barksdale law. He will make this charge in the committee. These three cases are the chief matters that will occupy the attention of the committee. The investigation will hardly be completed in a single sitting. The method of procedure has not been definitely decided upon.

OTHER POLITICAL MATTERS.
It is understood that Constable T. H. Franklin will shortly resign in favor of the nominee, Mr. D. L. Temple.

Constable James T. Dubank, of Tuckahoe, has already taken his step, and Mr. W. L. Ford, recently nominated in this district, has already qualified. Both of the ex-constables, it is understood, will accept employment with the Passenger and Power Company.

Three more statements of expenses during the primary have been filed with the county clerk. One of them is from Constable T. H. Samuel, who did not spend a cent in the election. The statement filed by Squire Lewis is as follows:

Sept. 30, to printing cards, $1.75
Sept. 30, to printing cards, $2.50
Sept. 30, to printing 1,500 cards, $1.50
Sept. 20, to printing 500 cards, $1.00
Total, $7.75

The statement filed by Mr. Thomas V. Gardner, one of the candidates for the House of Delegates, is as follows:

MANY AGAINST TRADING STAMPS

Merchants Seen Say That

A big town comes upon the face of a Broad Street merchant when the suggestion of the trading stamp is made. Manchester Bureau Times-Dispatch.
No. 1102 Hull Street.
While the City Council has not been called to meet in special session to elect a successor to Judge Clifton as City Attorney, it will be early next week.

The fight for the place by the friends of both Mr. Page and Mr. Pulliam is still going on hotly. Several members of Council last night said that they would not commit themselves to either candidate as they did not wish to elect a man to the position of City Attorney who contemplated holding two positions. Mr. Page is Commonwealth's Attorney and Mr. Pulliam is superintendent of schools.

A member of the leading committee that would rather not vote for either candidate under these conditions, and he said he knew of other members of the two branches who were in the same boat with him.

"If either of the candidates," he said, "would indicate their intention of resigning his present place provided he is elected to the place sought, then it would not take one a second to decide upon which candidate to place my vote."

It is generally understood that one place does not conflict with the other. A Judge of one of the courts in Richmond said yesterday that one man could not hold both positions.

MR. POOL'S POSITION.
It has been known for some weeks that Mr. Lawrence B. Pool, of Chesterfield county, has retired from the race for Commonwealth's Attorney in the approaching election in Chesterfield. Mr. Pool's name, however, is prominently mentioned as successor to fill the unexpired term of Judge Clifton in the County Court, and it is rumored that Governor Montague may make the appointment within a few days.

Considerable interest is being taken in the approaching election. A mistake was made in the report that Sheriff William C. Gill was running for the office of County Court, and it is now known that he is not.

The friends of Mr. T. Verner Moore, a member of the law firm of Shelton and Moore, are active in urging his appointment. Mr. Moore is a resident of Bon Air, and is a young man who is considered well qualified to fill the position.

Before coming to the bar, Mr. Moore was for several years a clerk in the office of Hon. Bev. T. Crump, now chairman of the State Corporation Commission, and has recently formed a partnership with his well-known attorney, Mr. James G. Shelton.

As the County Court system will go out of existence throughout the State on February 1, 1909, under the provisions of the new Constitution, it is understood that the next term of the Chesterfield County Court will be held on the 13th of October, and after that, this court will be merged with the Circuit Court, presided over by Judge B. A. Hancock.

The next term of the Chesterfield County Court will be held on the 13th of October, and after that, this court will be merged with the Circuit Court, presided over by Judge B. A. Hancock.

STREET COMMITTEE.
The Street Committee met some time last night for the purpose of representing various street paving concerns, who had been invited to appear before the committee. The object in having them present was to get statement and estimates for street improvements. The committee will be held, and after that, this court will be merged with the Circuit Court, presided over by Judge B. A. Hancock.

REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE.
The City Republican Committee met last night at the call of Chairman T. H. Samuel, and discussed the program and made plans for the district convention to be held on October 24 at Leader Hall.

FIREMEN'S BENEFIT.
Professor DeVan, the eminent veteran circus man, who can do anything in the line of stunts, is giving a benefit ride next week to the benefit of the firemen's fund. Professor DeVan was one of the features at the Amateur Circus several weeks ago, and can give a most entertaining and unique performance.

MARRIED IN WASHINGTON.
Captain John M. Richardson and Miss Mary E. Burton were married in Washington on Thursday, and have returned home. Captain Richardson is a well-known employee of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company, and his bride is a charming young lady.

OYSTER SUPPER.
The committee of ladies for the bazaar to be given at the Masonic Temple, are working most industriously for its success. Mrs. A. J. Daffron deserves great credit for the good work she has done, together with the other ladies on the committee.

On Monday night an oyster supper will be given at the Temple for the benefit of the bazaar. The price will be twenty-five cents, and the menu will be oysters in all styles, potato salad, snap salad, tomatoes, ham, pickles, crackers, coffee and fruit.

PERSONAL AND NOTES.
Rev. Dr. E. E. Bomer, of Richmond, will preach at Bainbridge-Street Church Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucas and Miss Sadie have returned from a trip to Annapolis, Md. They were accompanied by Miss Letta Claiborne.

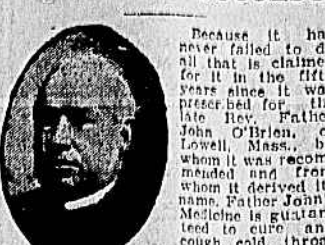

Mayor Maurice died Joseph Johnson yesterday for assaulting Susan Friend and fined Early Puckett and Cleveland Vest similar sums for trespass.

Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson Stanton, of Pona, Ill., are visiting Mrs. James Cook, Ninth and Main Streets.

Rev. A. Bines, the well-known colored preacher, has returned to the city.

Mrs. Meban Heisen, of Birmingham, Ala., who has been visiting Miss Tutwiler, No. 2721 Floyd Avenue, leaves to-day for her home.

TRAINED SEALS WITH WALLAGE

Wonderful Act of the Circus
That Comes Here on Monday.

The trained animal departments of R. B. Wallace's circus has for years been a very attractive feature with that show, and it will be more so this year.

To any one who has seen the seals in their native haunts on the cliffs of rocks at San Francisco, the capturing alive of the unhappy things would seem difficult and their training would seem impossible. How would the reader train a seal? Not one person out of a hundred thousand could even suggest the first practicable step.

Whether or not we know how to educate seals it matters but little, as there is one man in this country who has the secret of teaching them. For a very few years Professor Winston has been appearing before the public with his trained seals. Last winter he signed a contract with the Wallace Shows which takes effect this season. In that contract it is stipulated that Mr. Winston must have his sea animals trained to do new tricks, different from the old ones, in truth it is superior to any of its kind. As a consequence, Winston's seals will this year do everything with Wallace's circus except talk and it is not improbable that they may some time be able to talk.

Last winter Mr. Winston appeared with his seals in the city of Mexico for several weeks. This fact is a compliment not appreciated by the laymen. In the land of the Aztecs there is a law that requires all shows to produce every act as advertised, or more correctly, what is advertised. In Mexico Mr. Winston's seals were advertised to do the same acts that they are advertised to do with the Wallace Show this season. As the famous animal trainer was honest, he has never failed to do what he advertised to do. It is safe to say that Winston's seals will do just as advertised when they appear with the Great Wallace Shows at Richmond, Monday, September 21st.

MR. CUDLIPI'S FUNERAL

One of the Finest Telegraphers in the South.

The funeral of Mr. Fred D. Cudlipp, manager of the telegraph department of the Atlantic Coast Line system, who died at his residence in Washington, N. C., will take place from the house, No. 513 East Marshall Street, this morning at 10:30 o'clock. Rev. J. Y. Downman, rector of the All Saints' Church, will conduct the service. Interment will be made in Hollywood Cemetery.

Mr. Cudlipp, who had been visiting in Iowa, reached the city last night, accompanied by her daughter. The two boys of the deceased also reached the city yesterday from Wilmington.

Mr. Cudlipp spent twenty-five years of his life in Richmond. During most of all that period he was chief operator of the Richmond Western Union office. While probably not so rapid as some of the operators he was an accomplished electrician, and had a splendid grasp of the system and conditions, and could get more work out of the wires than any man south of the Potomac. Colonel J. B. Tree, who was superintendent of the Richmond division, and the two had the same office, pays Mr. Cudlipp's glowing tribute. He entered the greatest respect for his chief operator's ability and comprehensive powers of mind.

For many years Mr. Cudlipp was the chief support of mother and brothers and sisters here. Colonel Tree says that he was a man of great generosity to them and his treatment of his mother made her very happy and proud of him. He married a Miss Erickson, and she and three small children survive him.

Last October he was invited to take charge of the telegraph system of the entire Atlantic Coast Line system, which has been greatly increased by the acquisition of other roads. One of his first steps was to establish the quadruplex and duplex system, making the wires do four times as much work as before, enabling the enormous business of the road to be dispatched in far less time and with greater ease.

He was about fifty-four years of age. He was born in Fredericksburg, Va., and came to Richmond in the seventies.

FROM CALCUTTA TO UNIVERSITY

Prof. W. M. Forrest Assumes
Charge of John B. Cary
Bible Lectureship.

Professor W. M. Forrest, recently of Calcutta, member of a prominent Baltimore family, has been appointed to the John B. Cary Bible lectureship in the University of Virginia for the coming season. Classes will be organized for systematic study about October 1st. Instruction is free to all students of the University. Following is a partial list of subjects on which Mr. Forrest will lecture during the coming season: "The Bible as Literature," "Old Testament History," "The Rise and Growth of the Church from Christ to Constantine," "The Wisdom Literature," "The Orations of Moses," "The Life and Teachings of Jesus" and "Book Studies in Old and New Testament."

Professor Forrest has recently returned from India, where he has been for the last three years, as instructor in the Bible School at the University of Calcutta, in which he was eminently successful. John B. Cary, in his recent tour around the world, as international secretary of the Y. M. C. A., having become acquainted with him and his work in Calcutta, said of him that he was a man among a thousand in his ability and adaptability for this special line of work. His wife's health failing in the India climate, he had to be recalled to this country.

Mr. Forrest will preach at the Seventh-Street Christian Church to-morrow, morning and night.

CONGRESSMEN JONES WAS HERE YESTERDAY

Congressman W. A. Jones, of the First Congressional District, was in the city yesterday, to look after some matters before the Corporation Commission. The popular First District leader was in fine health and spirits, and was warmly greeted by friends here. He left for his home last night, having remained in the city only a few hours.

Mr. Jones did not care to discuss politics for publication, but his manner was such as to indicate that he was in good spirits over the outlook and that he expected the senatorial primary, with whose creation he had so much to do, to last for many years. If not for all time, Mr. Jones is one of those who will likely take the stump for the principle which he advocates, and most attractive stump orators in Virginia.

JUDGE JOHN H. INGRAM CALLS HIS DOCKET

Judge J. H. Ingram, the new judge of the Law and Equity Court, called the docket for the term yesterday with the exception of ten cases, and set them to suit the convenience of his Honor and the lawyers. The court was well attended, nearly all the lawyers at the bar having been present.

Resolutions upon the death of Judge Minor were presented by Mr. Jackson Guy, and Judge Ingram made a few most appropriate remarks concerning the death of the late Judge. He was accompanied by his wife, one son and one daughter, all of whom were at his bedside when he died. He was a very well known physician in King and Queen counties, also Essex county, Va. The remains have been taken to his home for interment.

THE DEATH OF CHAS. M. SMITH
Brother of John Ambler Smith and Well-Known Here.

Information was received by telegraph in this city yesterday of the death at a Washington hospital of Mr. Charles Maurice Smith, one of the most prominent lawyers of the District of Columbia, a native of Virginia, former resident and attorney of Richmond, and a brother of the late John Ambler Smith, who once represented this district in Congress, and a brother-in-law of Hon. Lunsford L. Lewis, United States district attorney of this city. Mr. Smith was known as one of the older residents of this city, but had many years lived and practiced law in the District of Columbia, where he was conceded to be one of the greatest criminal pleaders in the United States.

The funeral services of Mr. Smith will be private, and will take place from his late residence, No. 1311 Q Street, Northwest, Washington, this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The interment will be in Rock Creek Cemetery.

The Washington Evening Star of yesterday prints a statement to the effect that Mr. Smith, his long and honored career at the bar, and the estimates of his ability, of members of the District bar and bench.

Charles Maurice Smith attended William and Mary College and studied law at the University of Virginia, where he was admitted to the bar in Virginia and practiced for a time before the courts in Richmond and elsewhere in the State. He was admitted to the local bar and began the practice of his profession soon after coming here to live.

The deceased was about fifty-two years of age in Dinwiddie county, Va. When twenty-one years of age he came here from Richmond and made his home in this city at once. His father was Dr. E. Harry Smith, and who served during the Civil War as a surgeon in the Union army. The battle of Five Forks, one of the last engagements of the great strife, was fought on Dr. Smith's property.

The deceased was a brother of the late John Ambler Smith, who at one time represented the Richmond district in Congress, and married Miss Anna Lewis, daughter of John F. Lewis, a celebrated Indian fighter of Virginia, and the half-sister of former Senator Lewis, of Virginia, and sister of District Attorney Lunsford L. Lewis, of Richmond, who was formerly presiding judge of the Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia.

Mr. Smith and one daughter, Miss Lela Smith, survive him.

The Supreme Court of the District of Columbia adjourned yesterday as a mark of respect to the memory of Mr. Smith. The announcement of the demise was made by Mr. John Ridout, who referred in feeling terms to the long and honorable career and the abilities of the deceased.

BUSINESS MAKES GOOD PROGRESS
Conditions Favorable Despite the Opposition from the Elements.

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—R. G. Dun and Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade to-morrow will say: Business has made progress during the past week, despite unusual opposition from the elements. While all other industries are to a considerable degree dependent upon agricultural conditions, the weather has not been so unfavorable as to cause serious injury to crops by drought and wet weather are not calculated to stimulate confidence. Subsequent corrections indicate that the amount of damage has been exaggerated as usual, and prospects brightened.

The car shortage is beginning to be felt, especially in the Pittsburgh district, where sufficient labor cannot be
